Hi Lynn,

Fairlee has a town forest fund with a modest amount available. Unfortunately, in the past the Town Forest Board has refused to properly waterbar their road system after timber sales, believing that it made truck travel too difficult for hunters. The result is that the roads eroded between every logging job, requiring money from the town forest fund to repair them prior to each new job. Since most of the work we did over a 10-year period was improvement work (removing low-quality, low-value trees and leaving the better trees) there wasn't much money generated, and much of it was wasted on continually repairing roads. Very frustrating. But, having said that, there should at least be enough money in the fund to buy a GPS unit and pay for some mapping. I suggest a Garmon 60CSx unit. With this, you and other volunteers could record the location of the wetland perimeter, property corners, and all trails and roads. Then, you could take that information to a local company like Redstart Forestry in Corinth (439-5252) and they could upload your information and make you a great map.

See you on the 28th.

David
